

ASIATIC EXCLUSION
ATTACKED BY BRYAN

SECRETARY FEARS STRAINED RELATIONS WITH JAPAN IF BAKER BILL PASSES.

SENATE ARGUES BILL

Immigration Measure. Providing for Literacy Test Which Passed the House Tuesday, Now Before Senate.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, Feb. 5.—Secretary Bryan urged the house immigration committee today to take no action on the Baker bill for exclusion of Asiatic immigrants. Bryan said that the bill would strain relations between the United States and Japan over the California anti-alien land laws and the whole question of the Asiatic exclusion was discussed at length in the senate today.

The secretary bound republicans and democrats alike to secrecy and told them the administration needed to be free from legislative embarrassment in dealing with the situation diplomatically.

It was generally understood the wishes of the state department would be respected and that no effort would be made to put the matter before the committee at this time.

Bare Illiterates.
With a provision barring illiterates said to be the most drastic legislation of its kind for many years, the Baker bill has been the subject of much speculation. Some of those who claim to be informed say the president is opposed to the literacy test.

Before Mr. Wilson signed the bill, however, he will give public hearings upon it as former Presidents Taft and Cleveland did on similar bills.

Rural Credit Bill.
Under a definite agreement between President Wilson and democratic house and senate leaders rural credit legislation will be hurried through at this session of congress. This was determined today at a conference between the president, Senator Underwood and Representative Underwood and Bulkeley.

The house subcommittee has abandoned a proposed trip about the country to hear interested persons in order to expedite action.

Against Exemption.
President Wilson announced today that he would use every legitimate influence at his disposal to have repealed the privilege to bill exemption from the payment of tolls.

To Call Peace Conference.
The United States, it became known at the White House today, has issued a call for the holding of a third peace conference at The Hague next year. This government took this action, it is understood, at the request of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland.

Makes Nominations.
President Wilson today made these nominations: Judge of the United States court at Shanghai, China, Charles Sumner Lobingier of Omaha, Nebraska; major general commander of the marine corps, Col. George B. Davis.

To Fight Hog Cholera.
A threatened loss of $200,000 in hogs during the present year from hog cholera lead the senate today to agree unanimously to bill appropriating $500,000 for the department of agriculture to fight the disease.

Opposes Regulation.
W. C. Van Antwerp, a governor of the New York stock exchange, today told the senate banking committee that the Owen bill for government regulation of stock exchanges would do more harm than good and forced corporation would destroy America's primary market place.

Members of the house mining committee, who will investigate strike conditions in Michigan and Colorado, will leave Washington tonight.

FEDERAL POSTAL BANKS GROWING IN POPULARITY.
Washington, Feb. 5.—Women are abandoning their "little bank" habit and depositing their spare change in Uncle Sam's postal savings banks, according to a report today in the hands of Postoffice Department officials. The report was submitted by the postmaster at Pittsburgh.

It says that a woman recently went to the postoffice, pulled $2,000 out of her stocking, and asked for a pass book from the postal savings department.

Failure of banks is also benefiting the postal savings service, according to Third Assistant Postmaster General Dockery. In cities where banks have failed recently, many bank depositors have opened new accounts with the postoffice.

Five days after a run on the United States Trust Company in this city last November, 147 new accounts with deposits of $15,650 were opened with the postal savings according to a report by the postmaster here. At Pittsburgh a similar instance is reported. Following the closing there last July of the First Second National Bank, deposits increased greatly, the Pittsburgh postmaster reports.

MEXICAN FIGHTERS
USE SMALL RIFLES

While One Hundred of Contestants are Wounded in Battle, Very Few are Seriously Injured.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Houston, Tex., Feb. 5.—Red Cross officials working on the border line, caring for the injured, declare that the reports published regarding the number of killed and wounded in Mexican battles are largely erroneous because of the small calibre weapons that the Mexicans use.

The exaggeration of killed and wounded in battle is directly due to the Mexicans' laziness. The Mexicans, both federal and rebel, are it known, both feeble and cowardly, carrying the smallest rifle in the world, a 32 calibre. Some carry a $0.30. The Mexicans dislike to carry heavy guns or heavy ammunition and these light rifles are no burden. The Mexican deaths of those killed when it comes to marching and carrying a gun, that is work, and he wants to get out of that as much as possible.

William H. McGrath, representing the National Red Cross society, told that Mexicans who had fallen in battle suffered from very small bullet wounds and further investigation revealed the fact that they carried the lightest weapons possible. Mr. McGrath has just returned from a trip along the border and throughout North Mexico, where he saw much fighting. During the day of the heavy fighting at Nuevo Laredo, when the rebels tried to capture the town, 125 fatally wounded soldiers who were counted as dead were cared for by the Red Cross corps. Only four of the Mexicans died, as the wounds of the majority were slight. This is about the average percentage of deaths of those killed in battle. McGrath, which leads to the reports being sent out that a great many are killed. They are seen to fall and they are carried away on stretchers, and the correspondents and even the generals are honestly deceived. So, one reads a headline "Two Hundred Die in Mexican Battle" it may be generally taken for granted that there is one cipher too many. This has been the case in every Mexican battle in the last several years. The slaughter is not so terrible as understood. The greatest suffering, according to the Red Cross agent, is not on the battle field but in the camps and homes, where there is a lack of food and clothes. "Because small calibre guns are used," McGrath says, "the war may continue for a much longer period than expected; in fact, that is the reason why it has already lasted so long."

TURNING OVER ARMS

MUNITIONS OF WAR SEIZED BY UNITED STATES AT BORDER CONSIGNED TO OWNERS.

MINISTER TO RETURN

De La Barra, Huerta's Minister of Finance, Ready to Leave Paris to Aid Federal Cause.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Feb. 5.—Hundreds of thousands of rifles, machine guns and ammunition under seizure along the Mexican border, are being turned over to the constitutionalists as fast as they prove ownership.

During the two years that the embargo on arms has been in force agents of the department of justice have arrested hundreds of men in the act of transporting arms across the border and have seized carloads of ammunition. In many cases the ammunition so seized was turned over after it had been used as evidence.

Such arms as may be needed as evidence against persons still under indictment, will not be released for the present. It was said today, however, that the department of justice probably will not attempt to prosecute all the cases against arm smugglers.

De La Barra to Return.

RELIEVE STRINGENCY
BY STATE DEPOSITS

Distribution of Five Millions from State Treasury Will Help Money Market.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 5.—The depositing the money turned into the state tax fund in the 137 state banks and four working banks ought to relieve the financial situation in the state considerably, said State Treasurer Henry Johnson today. Within the next few weeks upwards of $5,000,000 will be turned into the state treasury. Little money is kept on hand. It is immediately deposited in the banks from which the state draws an interest on daily balances. These depositories are located all over the state and the return of the money into this channel ought to greatly relieve financial conditions for the spring.

Mr. Johnson said that he expected to make the first deposits in the state depositories on Feb. 15, and as rapidly thereafter as the counties send the money into the state treasury. He said that at the last meeting of the state board of deposits eighteen new depositories were created. Only about one-half of the money that is collected in taxes is originally withdrawn from the banks according to Mr. Johnson's estimate.

SCIENCE NOTES

In a recent address Alexander Gracie gave some figures which show how the cost of a vessel is decreased as the size increases and at the same time the operating cost per ton of cargo is cut down. A cargo vessel 400 feet long and weighing 6,700 tons will carry 4,000 tons of cargo 5,000 miles on a consumption of 500 tons of coal. Each hundred tons of cargo will involve 12½ tons of structural material and 12½ tons of coal per voyage. A vessel 500 feet long, weighing 8,700 tons, each 100 tons of cargo will require only 7½ tons of ship and 8 tons of fuel.

Seaweed burning is an important industry to the peasants along the coast of Norway, where the weed is gathered and dried and then burned for consumption in Scotland, where it is made into iodine. This is imported to the extent of 1,500 tons annually. The amount of seaweed deposited on this coast is very large so that a great deal must be burned to secure this amount of residue. At one time the industry was prohibited as a result of an agitation made by the fishermen who said the custom was the means of driving the fish away from the coast.

In the dairies of Holland the most minute care is exercised in order to secure a product having the lowest possible bacteria count. All the precautions taken in the best of the American dairies are followed as well as some others which are overlooked in this country. The attendants are required to undergo a frequent medical examination to ensure their being quite healthy and are required to wear clothing especially provided for their use when working around the cattle. Sterilized water is provided for washing their hands and bottles and for use in the udder of the cows. The milking is done in a special room which is kept scrupulously clean and all receptacles are sterilized before and after use.

There is no doubt but that exercise is a good thing for those who do not get it but to many the daily use of dumbbells, weights and similar apparatus grows irksome, the reason being a lack of stimulation owing to the fact that the person taking the exercise does nothing accomplished as the result of the work and time spent. Gustafson and Iwerson, who have taken an exercising machine which is rather familiar in the shape of a bicycle on a permanent stand and he has combined this with a storage battery. When the various members of the family take their daily exercise on this machine they are storing up current to be used in the form of illuminant after nightfall.

List a Dry Smoker.
List is a dry smoker of a peculiar type. Massonet, who knew him well in his later years tells us that List could not play unless he had a cigar in his mouth, which he never troubled to light. He would sit down to the piano with a cigar between his teeth and keep munching it all the time he played. When the cigar was quite eaten up, the Abbe would rise from the instrument exhausted.

KAREL'S PETITIONS APRIVE IN THE CITY

SIGNIFICANT GOINGS ON INDICATE REVOLT AGAINST ESTABLISHED ORDER.

ASK FOR BOTH PARTIES

Republicans Not Slighted and Also Given Opportunity to Sign Their Names.

There is evidence in existence there is to be a revolt of republicans through the state against the further domination of the "grand old party" in Wisconsin by those members of the party of democracy who wish to "take power" in this state who owe that power to the republican party.

It was learned this week that calls were in circulation in this city and county receiving many signatures of democratic voters for Judge John C. Karel of Milwaukee to become a candidate for governor at the primaries in September next on the democratic ticket.

This fact, it is believed by many, may cause other aspirants to "look and listen" before he crosses the line that separates a man from being or not a candidate for governor or any other state office. However, the "wise ones" here say that although no individual is left to himself, he would hardly enter the race, yet nevertheless he is being pushed so hard by United States District Attorney Ayward of Madison, Postmaster Frank B. Schutt and County Judge Michael J. Shand that the final distributors of federal paper in Wisconsin, that some of the more or less timid about refusing to swing into line for fear of their future political if they fail to respond to the "call" from the big game who have both feet and snouts in the patronage trough. Wolfe of La Crosse is just about as riotous with enthusiasm about running as he is timid about saying "no" to the patronage trust, telling them to find another candidate. Wolfe wants to be accounted loyal to the trust, but not ungrateful to it, and get on the trust's blacklist, so it is expected here he will capitulate and run.

Republicans Sign Karel Call.
But the most interesting and sensational feature developed here today is this: There is a call out here being signed only by republicans and addressed only to republicans, urging Judge John C. Karel to become a candidate for governor at the primaries next September.

The call portion reads as follows: "We, the undersigned republican voters of Wisconsin, believing that the best interests of our state will be served by a change in party management, and that the only hope for restoring the intolerable conditions admittedly existing and are felt in every home, is through the election of men to public office who are in no manner in sympathy with those in power do respectfully request you to become a candidate for governor at the September primaries and do hereby offer and pledge you our hearty support and assistance in case you become such candidate."

Where Did It Come From?
Of course the appeal quoted in the printed petition is addressed to Judge John C. Karel of Milwaukee. This call is apparently by republicans to republicans to sign it asking Karel to become a candidate. There is much query and speculation as to just where the petition came from.

Some think it is purely a republican move and laudable in all ways as its face purports and Judge Karel has had no knowledge of its initiation and could not stop it if he would and were to regard it as bad tactics. Then there are some who think Judge Karel's advisors have been mentors to this stunt thinking it would help his candidacy to come right out in the open frankly letting everybody know that many republicans want a change of administration, without any concealment or back door methods of approach as employed in the Karel campaign two years ago among republicans, or that are being employed now in the distribution of the federal pay by the Schutz-Sheridan-Ayward "swill trust" as exemplified in "gun shoeing" Schutz himself to the pie counter by cheap, picaresque methods.

Think It May Hurt Karel.
A third explanation held by some here is that such methods of working in republican ranks will be harmful to Judge Karel's chances and that he, his friends and mentors are not responsible for it, but that with the thought of discrediting him with the rank and file of the Democratic party this scheme has been put out by his friends, "the enemy," who cluster around the "swill barrel" and preside over the destinies of aspirants are in fact fallers to the stunt just to hand Judge Karel a bouquet that will emit a small not pleasant to the nostrils of the "progressives" over whom the patronage trust presides and dictates.

Some Think Karel Author.
Then another explanation that Judge Karel himself is the real author of the idea realizing that if Democrats win at all in this state they must have Republican votes in large numbers and he is going, or after they try to make it appear that the Republicans themselves are tired of the party yoke and want relief from any source and take up with Karel as the most likely and responsible man liable to be in the field who would meet their expectations of relief and who could vote the Republican ticket next fall rather than vote for a "progressive" stuck-up for office at the behest and dictation of the "swill trust" and there you are.

The public is thus involved in much speculation on this matter. There are many who think the "swill trust" is out to nominate the next Democratic candidate for governor and that this kind of a stunt would injure Karel immensely and have not hesitated to inspire it.

That the game of politics is a foxy one everyone knows, and the rank and file are prepared for anything here.

braska, and will soon be located at 337 North Terrace street. The new pastor comes highly recommended and he met with the highest approval when he occupied the pulpit here some Sundays ago.

It is expected that there will be a large attendance at the prayer meeting this evening and at the Sunday church services. Mr. Parisoe is busy planning his work in Janesville and expects to introduce some interesting innovations. Citizens of Janesville will join with the Presbyterians in extending a hearty welcome to the new minister.

CHURCH CLUB BOYS HEAR ABLE ADDRESS

Horace McElroy Gives Interesting Account of The Terrible Turk at Banquet Last Evening.

Before an attendance of thirty members of the Congregational Boys' club at their monthly meeting and banquet last evening at the church parlors, Horace McElroy gave an interesting account of "The Terrible Turk" as he is familiarly called. Mr. McElroy first reviewed in brief the history of Europe and Asia, which is especially concerned in the affairs of Turkey and the Balkan peninsula. The speaker told graphically of the age of the Crusades and their subsequent importance on that section of the world. He spoke of the barbarian invasions and their effect on the eastern Roman empire before it fell into the hands of the Turks, pointing out the effects of all these changes upon the civilization and life of the people in the Balkan states.

That the Turk is not as terrible as he is pictured, that he possesses unusual powers of endurance, has a tenacious devotion to his religion, is patriotic and loyal, and as a result is a good warrior, were characteristics which were dwelt upon by the speaker.

During his stay here he has made many friends who are sorry to see him leave, but are happy to know that he has an opportunity to advance his interests by making the change. His place will be filled by Foreman Haverhill of DeKalb, Ill.

GROUNDHOG AND ROBIN APPEAR ON SAME DAY.

When two harbingers of spring appear on the same day, their portents are hardly indisputable, but when their appearance is followed by the two coldest days of the winter, with the mercury hovering close to the zero mark, one is inclined to lose faith in signs. On Monday, Feb. 2, when Master Groundhog made his first bow to 1914 by crawling from his winter abode, the first robin was also seen. Miss Marie Donahue reports that she saw and heard, so there could be no mistake about it. The early spring birds, the Mr. Groundhog has had the courage to remain out of his hibernation quarters in face of the chilly reception he received. It is hardly probable that the songsters displayed the same fortitude and they have doubtless arrived long since at a warmer climate.

IN WAR ON RADIUM TRUST UNCLE SAM BUILDS LABORATORY TO TEST ORES

Among the vats in a radium laboratory.

In the hope of preventing a foreign monopoly of radium, Uncle Sam is now building in Denver a national radium institute which will be completed soon. By the first of March bureau of mines experts will be housed therein, producing the precious radium from the refractory minerals containing it.

The accompanying picture, taken in a radium laboratory, shows a view among the vats where the precious metal is precipitated and where the elimination of the sand, uranium and iron ore takes place.

MADAM ROSTAND COMPLETES NEW PLAY

This study of Madam Edmund Rostand was recently made in the home in Paris of the most famous of living French playwrights. Madam Rostand wrote the play "Good Little Devil," seen in this country for two or three seasons, and now, in collaboration with her son Maurice, has just completed a new play, "The Match Peddler," which is to be presented shortly at the Opera Comique, Paris. Edmund Rostand, her husband, is the author of "Cyrano de Bergerac" and "Chanticleer," two plays well known to theatergoers here in America.

AMUSEMENTS

MUSICAL COMEDY AT APOLLO.

An act of unusual interest begins at the Apollo tonight. Samuel Baerwitz presents a harvest of mirth and melody, "The Halloween Hop," introduced by a country cabaret with Wally Baker as the original Boob. The entire act is staged under the personal direction of Will J. Harris, who wrote the lyrics and music. The whole play is full of cute girls, funny fun-makers and spectacular novelties.

The cast contains seven people and the scene is laid in Uncle Hiram's barn on Halloween. Six big musical hits are included and it is safe to say "Halloween Hop" will be the biggest hit that has ever been shown at the Apollo.

PRESS COMMENT ON WELSH CHORUS.

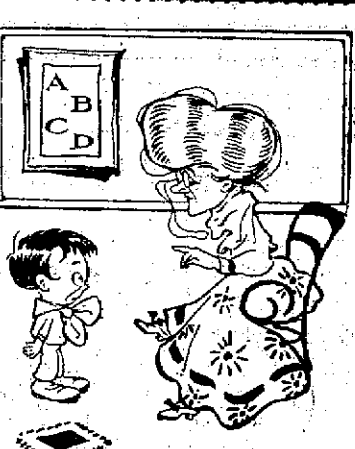

The Washington Herald of Nov. 17th, 1913, commented upon the work of the Gwent Welsh Male Singers in a manner which showed that music lovers of the capital city were given a wordy while treat which will be duplicated to the music given at the Myers Theatre, evening, when this famous organization makes its first local appearance.

Under headline saying: "Welsh Chorus Heard in Song Recitals—Sixteen Male Singers Give Excellent Program at the Belasco—Well Trained Voices," the critic of the "Herald" goes on to say:

"The Welsh Chorus of sixteen singers known as the Gwent Welsh Male Singers gave two song recitals at the Belasco Theatre yesterday afternoon and evening. The choir is composed of well trained voices, all capable of solo work, and the program alternated between the full choir, and solo, duet and quartet numbers."

"Mr. George F. Davies, the leader, has his choir well drilled in all the requirements of vocal masses. The shading was good, and the melodic and harmonic phrasing was fully adequate to the music given. The best of that was of the martial type, in which the choir brought out a beautiful volume of tone in vigorous style."

"Some excellent work of this kind was done in the Soldiers' Chorus from Faust, by Gounod; in 'The March of the Men of Harlech' and 'The Martyrs of the Arena,' in the Hallelujah Chorus of Handel, which is religious-martial, and in the Welsh National Anthem. The negro melody 'Old Black Joe' was well worth hearing."

GINK AND DINK

Sport Snap Shots

They're trying to induce Jack Johnson to appear in London. According to recent reports the Britishers are eager to see the colored champ in action against the efforts are being made to arrange a bout between Lt. Artha and Sam Langford. The last time Johnson appeared in London he made no very large impression, being so fat that he could hardly waddle about the ring. However, London night fans have probably forgotten that and are willing to pay a pretty penny to see the big smoke waddle some more.

It seldom happens that a youngster from the minors get away with any new stuff when he breaks into the big show. Buck Weaver, however, the capable little White Sox shortstop, did, and worked his trick all last season with great success. Weaver had found that in double plays he was frequently a second or so low in getting the ball to first and doubling up the second man in making the throw. On the second after covering the bag and taking the ball from the second baseman, he found that the runner to first would often beat his throw by just a step or two. And Weaver knew that he had a whip any shortstop in the game. He would lay awake nights trying to figure out some way of making more speed on his double plays and then one day in a game quite by accident he chanced upon the proper trick. When chasing to second to take the throw and cover the bag he stepped a full stride over the bag and thus made a quicker throw to first, getting his man. To his surprise the runner at second was called out, too, and he suddenly felt that he had an idea. "If it would work once by accident, why not often by design," thought Buck. He mentioned his hunch to Jimmy Calahan. "Go as far as you like," says Cal. And he did. He worked the thing with huge success on every team in the league and most every time the ump called both runners out. The extra stride over the second bag gave Buck a swell chance to get a faster and quicker throw to first.

Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn bunch, exudes all manner of pleasure and delight when discussing the prospects of his pitching staff for next season. Wilbert is convinced that the Brooklyn pitchers next summer will make the opposition utter exclamations of dismay. Robinson plans to pin most of his faith to Ray Rucker. Ed Ruelbach and Pat Ragon, all of whom can be relied upon to cop a big percentage of the games they pitch, thinks Robinson. Ruelbach has not as yet signed his contract with Brooklyn, but there is no likelihood of his not being with them when the season opens and Ed only recently declared that he planned to sign the papers just as soon as he could meet Ebbets. With the pitching staff working well and the rest of the team coming along in nice shape, Robinson feels very sanguine over the team's chances for next season.

BIG LEAGUERS WILL SOON START SOUTH FOR SPRING DRILL

Work of Signing Contracts Keeps Managers Busy During Winter League—Many Players Jump.

New York, Feb. 5.—The Winter League is rapidly passing out, but if anyone has a single doubt as to it, looking back over the field littered with former league presidents, and punctured ranks of major league clubs, with club owners watching in the offing, will give the answer.

Within a few days the ball clubs will be in the South putting in their first lacks of training. Bat bags are even now being packed. Within ten days the New York Giants will begin to gather in St. Louis for their annual pilgrimage to the Garden of the Gods. The crash against the horsehide will then take the place of mere words banging against the ear drum, and tales of sore arms and charlie horses will step in where claims and counter-claims now reign.

Many are the young men who are beginning to feel that the career they had mapped out for themselves may not be half as good as it looked in November and December. They will be retiring from the game. They will be signing for contracts. It's two months yet before the season opens, but the night is drawing to a close. The clouds are about to break, and when they do, make way for the Old King League will be brought to the beginning of the real test.

Standouts and claims of players that have been signed suffer during months when the cob webs are on the bats and rats nestle in the gloves, but when the big time opens there is but one question to be answered. That question deals with the general and broad topic of whether they can play ball.

This has been one of the dingiest Winter Leagues that ever wintered. After the firing of Tom Lynch as president of the National League and the installation of Gov. Tener of Pennsylvania in his place came the now famous Tinker deal between Brooklyn and Cincinnati and the naming of Charles Herzog as the new Red manager. The Tinker deal and the Federal League began to horn in actively at that stage of the game. Since that time what has happened has been aplenty.

Minor Brown, Otto Knabe, Packard, Cole, Bronnen, Ford, Willett, Camnitz, McKee and a few others are known to have jumped to the federales. Killifer of the Phillies and Kirkpatrick of Brooklyn jumped and given rise to threats of court proceedings, but each action would be dull going after the playing season is once on. The feds have claimed that they have a lot more players, but they like, did not announce them all at once.

Talk of slaters of money, bill parks and major league stars that have been signed will do when the seasons are around the stove, but when the ing is called to order, just a back of first base, it means something else again. The federales may produce the something else. This is one time when the baseball fan stands to lose nothing and gain a lot. But with the old timers back in the field and the smell of baseball in the air it will take real baseball and not conversation to make the federales a third major league.

This international tinge to various sporting events for 1934 is getting a place where it means the entire landscape. With the yacht races, tennis, golf and polo lined up in real international array two foreign entrants large, generally makes good use of the floor for witnessing the contest, thus leaving the playing space too small to hardly class it with more than a good-sized room. In 1912 the locals won from Edgerton on the latter floor, 44 to 6, but conditions appear different now.

Practice last night was nothing more than a good fast signal drill, with a strenuous test for wind, and other factor. The men are in good condition for the contest at present.

PACKEY McFARLAND IS ON WAY TO NEW YORK TO REARRANGE GIBBONS BOUT

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Packey McFarland, the Chicago pugilist, has gone to New York, where he will make an effort to rearrange a bout with Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul boxer, word having reached him that a hitch over his guarantee had caused a cancellation for the match first arranged for Feb. 12th. According to McFarland a representative of the New York club before which the bout was to have taken place, offered him ten thousand dollars for his end, but the directors of the club refused to sanction this guarantee. McFarland is quoted as saying he will accept a liberal percentage instead of the guarantee, rather than miss the chance to meet Gibbons in the ring.

MAROONS WIN GAME FROM BODIE'S STARS

Stars Take First Round, but Are Backed to the Wall in Last Session by 144 Points

A lead for forty-three points made by Bodie's Stars in the first game was only a stimulating effort for the Maroons to roll a seven hundred game and leave the Stars with the shortest end of the score, when the final plus were set up. The Maroons rolled a stand total of 2022 which was 144 better than their opponents could beat off.

Kohler, of the winners, was high when he entered the local hall of bowling fame by pushing over a 201 score, made in the second contest. The failure of the Miller's team to make a classy showing at the state tournament, has been a disappointment to the Janesville bowling fans, who expected that the five would roll enough to put them well up in front for the prize money. The five men score of 2286 puts them far in the rear of any hopes of landing a portion of the big stakes. The double score entry made by Cook and Merick with one over.

Whether the sentiment of the public demands that Janesville men fairly well up in the list. The Lee brothers, bowling under a Milwaukee entry, rolled off 1022 in their events.

Lee of Janesville score 220-164-187 while W. L. Lee rolled 123-159-168. In the singles, E. Lee scored 548.

Last night's score:
Maroons.
Mott	109	128
Kohler	124	201
Fineran	162	154
Brockhaus	86	140
Eickman	126	113
Totals	597	736

Bodie's Stars.
Brannell	161	95
Capt. Bodie	118	127
Ryan	118	128
Hayes	136	137
Arthur	107	102
Totals	640	586

Neighbors, captain of the Miller's five, set high score for the Janesville bowlers, rolling with his favorite strike ball—244, 165, 179—for a total of 588 in the single events. The high game of 244 proved one of the sensations of the tourney, and if he had kept the pace, would have topped the individual entry.

FOOTBALL RULES BOARD MEETS TO MAKE CHANGES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, Feb. 5.—Whether the sentiment of the public demands that football players wear numbers on their backs, so that spectators may tell at a glance the identity of the player, is the most important matter which will come up before the annual meeting of the football rules committee, which is to be held here tomorrow and Saturday, at the Hotel Manhattan. Football experts who gathered here today to attend the meeting were about evenly divided on the question. Those who will favor the plan declared today that the change would mean a vast increase of interest by the general public in the gridiron sport. Delegates who are here today said they believe few changes will be made in the playing rules.

MAP MAKERS.

Wars, skillful diplomats, ambitious rulers throughout Europe have caused the map-makers no end of trouble during past centuries. Nations have expanded, swallowing up the weaker neighbors, to be in turn themselves swallowed up by more powerful people. According to the Christian Science Monitor the politics of Europe resemble in some respects a kaleidoscope. A strong minister seizes the tube and shakes it, and the various states shape themselves into various patterns. Then another, or a stronger hand, snatches it, and, in a moment, the fresh pattern is broken up, and the component fragments begin to fall into new combinations. Frederick the Great, Chatham, Napoleon, Pitt, Metternich, Cavour, Bismarck, and the present Kaiser, have all shaken this kaleidoscope, in the last two centuries, with immense effect, as the minor men have with less result. The grouping of the Powers today is very different from the grouping of the Kaiser. If he had lost his nerve in more than one great crisis there would have been an end of the Triple, and if the Triple had been shattered, the mortar of the Entente would have crumbled.

A correspondent in Paris, whose information has always proved most accurate, points out that one of these periodical bouleversements is at present threatening. That unnatural alliance, in which the two most democratic of the Great Powers are entangled with the most reactionary, is in danger of disruption. France and the United Kingdom draw nearer and nearer together, but Russia draws further off. The delirium of embraces proked on the boulevards by the visit of the Russian sailors could not be reproduced tomorrow by the coming of the Czar himself. Were it not, indeed, for the appetite for republican francs in the Imperial treasury,
it is doubtful if the elaborate travesty would be any longer maintained. The discovery that London and Paris are exhibiting no undue excitement to pull the Russian chestnuts, in the shape of the Von Sanders mission, out of the Ottoman fire, seems to have convinced
M. Sazanoff that the limit of concessions has been reached.

M. Delcasse went to the Nera to underpin the tottering walls. A tremendous worker, like Lord Kitchener or Joseph Chamberlain, he found himself in the orbit of the card table or the supper party. It was magnificent, no doubt, but it was business. M.
Delcasse is retreating from the winter palace to strengthen the endeavors of that sometime socialist, Aristide Briand; and the winter palace glances across the Vistula in the direction of Potsdam. If Mr. Edward Grey M. Doumergue cannot be persuaded to assist M. Sazanoff in obtaining the withdrawal of General von Sanders from Constantinople, then, perhaps, Herr von Jagow may be prevailed upon to agree to a quid pro quo in the peaceable penetration of Armenia by the Cossack. So the kaleidoscope once more begins to change, and it is difficult to say exactly what pattern
the political fragments may fall into during the next few months.

LICENSED LAW-BREAKERS.

"While there is little wisdom in losing our sense of proportion, as a correspondent does who calls the labor union question the 'one vital matter before the country,' its import is of present and grave importance," says
the Wall Street Journal. "A congress which has been willing to concede to terrorism what it refused to reasoning, proposes to make a permanent exception of trades unions and farmers' alliances in conspiracy in restraint of trade, which has always been a crime in common law irrespective of the Sherman Act.

"Class privileges are detestable,
whether granted to improperly protected manufacturers, financiers, farmers, or labor unionists. The last of these, because upon the whole the least intelligent, is the worst tyranny, the more so that its little finger seems greater in the eyes of congress than the joints of the legitimate financial interests of the country.

"But is the threat as formidable as congress fears? In what election was the labor vote ever decisive, and what labor leader, even in a congressional district, has ever been able to 'deliver' the labor vote? In round figures the members of trade unions are something in excess of 2,000,000. This includes a large number of aliens, of women, and even of minors. The remainder represents, so far as the electoral vote of the country is concerned, the broomstick which supports the lighted pumpkin and the cotton sheet.
Mr. Gompers found sufficiently terrifying to induce President Wilson to sign exemption of the unions from the expenditures of the Department of Justice.

"It was remarked at the time of Mr. Wilson's acceptance of a rider to an appropriation bill of so lawless a character that it would come back to plague him. It is doing so in the measures to amend the Sherman act now pending. He will be faced with a demand to make the injunction he endorsed in the appropriation for the Department of Justice absolute. His success in the presidency will turn up on his future actions.

"Advice from Wall Street is little relished in Washington. But it may be suggested that they take their courage in both hands and treat the demand for special privilege from the labor class as they would such a demand from any other class."

COMBINATION ELECTRIC STOVE.

The smallest and most compact cooking outfit is a combination electric stove, a chafing dish, a tea samovar, a coffee percolator, and a nursery outfit.

The six-inch electric stove serves for all the devices which are made especially to fit it. This stove is connected to the ordinary electric light socket by a long flexible cord. When the electricity is snapped on the stove gets hot. This heat is caused by a "resistance grid" concealed within the base of the stove. The passage of electric current through this grid produces the heat.

With this combination stove an entire meal, and a large one at that, can be cooked right on the dining room table. The coffee pot, tea pot, cooker, stove, etc., all rolled into one. This device can be operated from the lamp socket and consumes no more current than an ordinary incandescent lamp.

The Electric News Service thus describes this latest device for a stove which ought to prove a boon to the man who shivers around a cold kitchen, building a fire at daylight, on a frosty morning. And here is a washing machine that will bring joy to the wife and mother.

"The electric washing machine will wash six batches of clothes for three cents. It can be attached to any lighting socket, with a flexible cord and a screw plug. The machine is driven by a small electric motor. This motor drives both the washing machine and wringer. It consumes no more electricity than an ordinary electric lamp. The electric washing machine is very durable, the motor will last for many years, with ordinary care and attention."

This is fine weather for the ice man, but it is mighty uncomfortable for the pedestrian who does not possess an electric-heated car to ride around in. However, next summer we will be glad of these cold days when the thermometer is wavering around the hundred mark and ice is at a premium.

On the Spur of the Moment

Mona.
I can't stand Mona Lisa.
I do not like her face.
I'd hate to have her tagging
Me round from place to place.
I'd hate to be as grouchy
I'm free to tell you that.
Imagine eating breakfast
Each morn across from that.

Her look—oh, mercy, save us,
Would bore a hole in steel,
I'd hate to be as grouchy
As Mona seemed to feel.
That smile they tout so loudly—
Those artists and their ilk—
I'm very sure would curdle
A ten-quart pan of milk.

Perhaps she was a beauty;
But this I surely know,
She'd have a hard time singing
With any musical show.
Why fuss about that picture—
Da Vinci's famous work?
She couldn't hold a candle
To our own Billie Burke.

Mexican War News.

Monday—Tampico has fallen again.
The rebels have taken it and the rebels are now regulars and the former regulars are now rebels. President Huerta has retired.

Later—The report that President Huerta has retired was slightly exaggerated. True, he did retire last night, but he got up again bright and early this morning.

Tuesday—Tampico fell this morning for the second time this week.
General Tobasco was shot at sunrise.
Later—The general was not shot at sunrise. This morning he was only half shot. The general is in this condition every morning at sunrise.

Wednesday—It is reported that Tampico has fallen again.
Tampico has not fallen. The war has simply been declared off temporarily while the rebels and the regulars attend the bull fights.

Also Wednesday—General Paprika
de Tamale, who has reached the American border from Mexico City, reports that President Huerta is dying.

Later—While General Tamale's report is substantially correct, it was not given in full. The reporter was called away to take a drink in the general's honor. The general's sentence.
What the general started to say was that President Huerta is dying to get a good crack at General Tobasco and his rebel army.

Thursday—Mexicans at Juarez shot the holes in the American border today and the American border begins to look like a piece of old leath.

Friday—Several sightseers with baby cabs were tramped upon during the holes in the early this morning. They were all American. Owing to the fact that the most damage is always done by guns that are not loaded, General Tobasco has ordered all his soldiers to throw away all of their ammunition.

That's a good thing, too.
But don't forget the old hoss
Who has pulled you through.

Heart to Heart Talks

By CHARLES K. LURIE

HONOR THY SON AND DAUGHTER.

"Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be prolonged in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

So runs the commandment. It is good and is approved by the experience of the ages.

But so is its converse—honor thy son and thy daughter, that their days may be long in the land in which they were born; that their days may be free from the reproach of unworthy parentage.

Not long ago there was a state legislator who took to the wrong path. He hearkened to the voice of allurements and accepted money wrongfully. The state sent him to the penitentiary.

In his home sat a son, a young man of nineteen. The shame of his father's conviction weighed on him. He could not face his friends and neighbors. He could not bear to be pointed out as the son of the man who had betrayed a trust.

So one night he shot himself dead.
"None of the family could give any reason for the shooting," the news reporter said.

Life spread itself before this young man overcast by a fearful cloud. His own shame he might have lived down,
but his father's was too heavy for him
to bear.

There is a lesson here for all fathers and mothers. Great as is the duty which the children owe to the authors of their being, equally great is the duty of the parents toward their children. They owe them, besides proper support in their early, tender, helpless years and the education that shall fit them for life, the remembrance of parents' lives honestly and decently lived, that the sons and daughters may face life with the heritage of a good name.

"For the children's sake."
What stories of self sacrifice, of toil,
of endeavor might not be compiled under that title, if all were known.
All honor to the fathers and mothers who live those stories.

Let the selfish, careless, unheeding parent beware lest his sins be visited on his offspring, as the good book warns.

And not alone the good book. Here is what Juvenal, the pagan satirist,
says:
Let naught which modest eyes or ears
would shun Approach the precincts that protect thy son.

Far be the revel from thy halls away
And of courtesans the wanton lay.
His child's upbraidings thy demands.
The dearest reverence at a parent's hands.
Quit for his sake thy pleasant vice in time.
Nor plunge thy offspring in the lore of crime.

Deeply Religious.
"Deeply religious is he?" "Yes, indeed. If he dines out on Friday, he tells nothing but fish stories."—Puck.

SCOTT MEMORIAL UNVEILED BY FRENCH ALPINE CLUB.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Paris, Feb. 5.—Under the auspices of the French Alpine Club, a memorial to Captain Scott, whose discovery of the South Pole was followed by his death before he could reach the honors of his achievement, was unveiled today in the French Alps, on the Col de Lautaret. It was there that the British explorer went to try out his motor sleighs which he intended to use on his dash to the pole.
Funds for the memorial were raised by Dr. Charcot, originator of the idea, through public subscriptions. A British Admiralty delegation attended today's celebration. Representatives of the French Ministries of War and Marine were present, the former being in charge of a section of the famous Chasseurs Alpins.

dreaded disease that science has been

Catarh. Hall's Catarh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical

by destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting

SENATOR TEASDALE WANTS UNION STATION AT SPARTA

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 5.—The first application for the erection of a union station under a law passed at the 1913 session of the legislature has been filed by Senator Howard Teasdale of Sparta. He says that the Northwestern and the St. Paul stations are about three-fourths of a mile apart and that public convenience and necessity require that a union station be erected for the two companies. The commission has the case under advisement.

Frightened to Death.
A man died at Hanley, England, under curious circumstances lately. While a boiler was being stocked at the Deep Pit, two loud explosions took place. They were caused by the automatic opening of a valve, but Samuel Raybould, one of the stokers, exclaimed: "That's frightened me to death," and, falling, he instantly expired.

Children Need Protection.
Because they have less resisting power, children are more susceptible to all kinds of disease germs than older persons. This is why every child should be early taught to avoid the habits which lead to infection. It is little short of a criminal risk to allow a child to work or play in a room or yard that is not clean as it can be made.

ROCK COUNTY STARTS SUIT FOR MANDAMUS

STATE TREASURER MADE DEFENDANT IN FIGHT OVER JANEVILLE REASSESSMENT.

SEEKS FUND WITHHELD

District Attorney Dunwiddie Brings Action in Circuit Court to Recover $2,995 From State.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, Feb. 5.—State Treasurer Henry Johnson was today made defendant in an action for mandamus brought by Rock County to compel him to pay that county for the expenses of the Janesville reassessment in 1912, or show cause why he should not do so. The hearing was fixed for Feb. 23rd before Circuit Judge Stevens.

The reassessment, made upon petition of taxpayers, cost $2,851, and with interest amounts to $2,995, which sum is asked of the state.

The city of Janesville refused to pay these expenses. The state treasurer when remitting Rock county's portion of the tax to license money withheld the amount of the reassessment cost. This is now being sued for. At the hearing Attorney General Owen will probably move to quash the writ. The action was filed here by District Attorney Dunwiddie of Janesville.

ARREST BELOIT MAN WANTED FOR ATTACK

Janesville Police Capture Negro Who Slashed 'Helpless' Porter in South Beloit Tuesday.

After evading Beloit authorities since Tuesday night, Dick Washington, a Beloit negro, wanted for slashing the face of Philip Reed, another colored man, was arrested as he stepped from the eleven o'clock interurban car Wednesday night by Officer Philip Kemp. He was lodged over night in the city lockup. It is evident that Washington, whose reputation is not of the best, has been in hiding since the crime and did not try to make his escape until last night.

Janesville police received a description of Washington early yesterday morning and kept a strict watch on all trains and interurban cars. On the arrival of the last car from Beloit, their efforts were rewarded for as soon as the negro stepped off at the station he was arrested by Officer Kemp. Constable James Root with the warrant charging Washington with assault and intent to kill, took his prisoner to South Beloit early this morning.

According to the constable, Washington appeared at a residence in South Beloit and threatened to kill anyone who interfered with his efforts to raise the money to pay his bond. He was accompanied by a colored man, who has been in the hospital for the last three months and was unable to defend himself. Washington slashed his face with a blunt weapon, leaving a dangerous jagged wound.

MOOSE POLO SQUAD PLAY AT ROCKFORD

To Present Game to Rockford Fans at Coliseum Rink Tonight Against Picked Team.

The Janesville Moose roller polo team, who play a picked team of Racine and Kenosha players, at the Coliseum rink at Rockford tonight, will be accompanied by a colored roller polo team, who will leave the city early in the evening on a special car. Over fifty have purchased tickets and it is expected that twenty-five more will make the trip.

The game tonight will introduce the roller polo game and it is the intention of the sportsmen of Rockford to organize a team to further the formation of the proposed interurban roller polo league which was brought up for consideration in November last year. The Moose live expect a hard contest, as their opponents are the Racine-Horlicks and the Kenosha All Stars.

Members Of Advisory Committee In Recent Campaign Authorize Expenditure Of Funds.

At a meeting last evening of the members of the Palmer Memorial Mercy hospital advisory committee, held at the hospital, outstanding bills against the institution were ordered paid out of the funds, which were collected for the purpose. All bills must be presented to S. M. Smith, treasurer of the committee, at the Merchants and Savings bank.

The hospital fund which amounts to nearly $27,000 will be sufficient to place the institution in good financial condition and will clear up the debt except for three notes which are held by banks and which run for a long period.

GIVE A BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR MASTER DALE NELSON

Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Nelson, Kent flats, entertained this afternoon at a birthday party given for their little son, Dale Edward, who today reached the first milestone in his life's journey. A half score of little tots were present with their mothers and helped their little host make the day merry. Tag and other baby games substituted for the customary afternoon nap and it is needless to say that the little people took kindly to their luncheon of cakes and milk. Following a luncheon, for the older guests the tired but happy babies, content to rest, were returned to their homes. Miss Thelma Ames of Broadhead, a cousin of the little host who, singularly, also claims February 5 as her birthday, was present and claimed her share of the honors of the afternoon.

ADVISES PRECAUTION TO PREVENT DISEASE

City Health Officer Urges Vaccination Although Chance of Small-pox Epidemic is Slight.

Janesville citizens need have no fear of a small-pox epidemic resulting from the case of the stranger who exposed the prisoners and night lodgers at the city jail, which time she was taken to the city jail, according to the statement today of Dr. S. B. Buckmaster, city health officer. Every precaution has been taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

The stranger, who is being given medical care, has been given medical care, and his infection will be kept under control. The health officer says that the stranger, who was taken to the city jail, was vaccinated and his clothes thoroughly fumigated. Those who did not reside in the city were told to leave, but two of them spent the night at the city jail. Yesterday the cell rooms at the city hall were thoroughly fumigated and the officers used every precaution to prevent any further danger, and an order has been placed in the city since the stranger was taken there. Instead of stating to the officer in charge that night, that he was ill, the man asked for a night's lodging and did not reveal the danger of his infection until this morning.

Although there is little danger of an epidemic, Dr. Buckmaster advises that all people in this city who have not been vaccinated recently, take this precaution. He says that he has never been treated in the last five or six years, because of the numerous epidemics in southern Rock county and northern Illinois. The spread of the disease is declared to be the result of a large part of the population of persons who refused to be vaccinated in late years, thus giving the malady a foothold to spread. Janesville, fortunately, has been very free from the disease, and never before have there been cases of small-pox. The health officer has been successful in confining the cases and preventing any spread. Beloit has been troubled with the malady, but the disease has been confined to a few cases, and there has been an effective checking.

PREPARE ARTICLES TODAY TO BE SENT TO MRS. RADOAOVA

Janesville Ladies Preparing Box to be Sent to Bulgaria.

Janesville society ladies this afternoon gathered at the home of Mr. Starr Atwood for the purpose of preparing articles to be sent to Mrs. Radoaova, who is in the town of Roustchouk. Wearing apparel and other commodities to send to this family were prepared.

Mrs. Radoaova has visited Janesville on several occasions as the guest of Mrs. Atwood, and was her schoolmate in Oberlin college, Oberlin, Ohio, where she studied.

Reaching the terrible conditions which prevail in Bulgaria at present, Mrs. Atwood was determined to aid in some way in caring for her friend, who is in distress. The recent war have turned the population of the country into a mass of fugitives.

Since the Turkish war, Roumania has captured the northern portion of Bulgaria, including Roustchouk, the town where Mr. and Mrs. Radoaova reside. The Roumanians have taken all public buildings in the city and have converted to Christianity by force of arms the people of the city, who are the most extraordinary, and which the people cannot begin to pay.

The people are fleeing as fast as possible into Bulgaria, where it is somewhat safer. Aid is being received in large amounts from England, at many of the bands of fugitives are in need of aid just the same. What charity is being done does not begin to meet the needs of the thousands who are helpless.

Mrs. Atwood, through the courtesy of the railroads, has made arrangements whereby she can send a barrel of goods to the family at Roustchouk, which will cost her about three hundred pounds, which is a greatly reduced rate, than she could get otherwise.

The ladies of the city are preparing articles, such as underwear, waists and eatables, in addition to sending clothing which might prove useful in some way or other. The barrel will be sent as soon as it is packed and the family are in need of anything they can get.

Mr. Shitirka Radoaova fought in the terrible wars, which conflicts required the services of all able-bodied men of the country. He still survives and is working for the Red Cross Society of Bulgaria at present.

Mrs. Radoaova was informed when a child that American customs and manners were higher and more ideal, than those which she could learn by staying in her native country. She came to United States. Her mother had been converted to Christianity earlier by the famous Ellen Stone, in Macedonia, and later came to the United States. Her daughter, who went to school in this country. She went directly to Oberlin, for out of the education which she had obtained from the mission at Roustchouk, her home as a child, she was asked to enter Oberlin as a junior. After spending four years at Oberlin, she received a degree in music.

She was a delegate to the Y. W. C. A. convention at Lake Geneva several summers ago, at which time she came acquainted with many local people.

Later she returned to her native country, where she taught for one year in a mission school at Samokov.

ICE MEN PREPARE CROP FOR CUTTING

Start Scraping the Surface and Testing the Thickness Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday the ice men were out with their scrapers just north of the second icehouse. On testing the ice they found it to measure about five inches in the course of the stream and about ten inches near the shore. This is by no means thick enough to start cutting, as a uniform thickness of at least ten inches is necessary to make a good harvest. Usually the ice harvesters begin work when the ice runs from ten to fourteen inches in thickness and if the present cold weather continues this thickness will be reached by the first of next week. This will mean the employment of a large force of men until the harvest is over. It looks as though the weather were going to favor the ice men finally, and they do not hesitate to take advantage of their opportunity.

The men at work yesterday were clearing away the thin coating of snow and were taking tests at different points. They expect to start marking in the course of a few days in order to be ready to cut when the ice freezes to the required thickness.

Renamed by the Irish.

When the duke of Wellington was conducting the peninsular wars he had with him several Irish regiments. One of these stationed in Porto came to like the place so much that they decided to make it immortal with the O'Toolles and O'Harras. Hence the town known to the Portuguese as Porto has ever since been known as Oporto.

EVERY WIFE'S DUTY

Watch Husband's Hair. If Thin Or Full of Dandruff Insist On His Using Parisian Sage.

Men give but little thought to the care of the hair. Not until the first bald spot appears do they really take notice. If your husband's hair is getting thin, if he has dandruff or itching scalp, do not let him become a bald head. Get from any drug or toilet counter a 50 cent bottle of Parisian Sage. The first application stops itching head and removes dandruff—the great hair destroyer. A little Parisian Sage rubbed well into the scalp for a few nights will work wonders. When the hair stops falling and the new growth appears a frequent use of this invigorating tonic is all that is needed to make the hair perfectly healthy, thick and beautiful.

Surely try Parisian Sage. Smith Drug Co. sell it with an agreement to refund your money if not satisfied. It's a delightful hair tonic for men and women.

BIG ROW BREWING OVER PRESIDENT'S TWO NOMINATIONS

California and Pacific Congressmen Offer Bitter Criticism, Stating Executive is Unfair.
(By Winfield Jones.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—A big row is brewing in congress over the recent nomination by President Wilson of two men to fill the vacancies on the interstate commerce commission.

Bitter criticism of President Wilson's nominations to the two vacancies on the interstate commerce commission was voiced today by California and Pacific coast congressmen, who declared that the president in the appointments has treated unfairly the great Pacific coast region, and not only has he ignored in the appointments one of the most important geographical sections of the country, but he has selected for two of the most important places in the democratic administration men who are declared to be nonentities.

Pacific coast representatives are not the only congressmen who are criticizing the appointments. Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, is reported to have announced that he will oppose confirmation of the nominations of both Henry Clay Hall of Colorado Springs, Colorado, and Prof. Winthrop Moore Daniels of Princeton University, whose names were sent to the senate last Saturday for the two vacancies on the commission. La Follette would not talk of his intentions today, but it was intimated the Wisconsin senator believes the selection of one, and will fight his confirmation.

Representative Kindell, democrat of Denver, is much displeased with the nomination of Hall. Kindell is quoted as saying that "nobody ever heard of Hall in Colorado before this—he is a lawyer of no standing or influence in Colorado. What obscure influence caused his nomination nobody knows. As for Prof. Daniels, there is far too much Princeton University already in this administration."

The California congressmen declare that in view of the opening of the Panama canal, the vast problems of the intermountain rate cases, the fight of the transcontinental railroads to establish a transportation monopoly and other great public issues that vitally affect the Pacific coast, at least one of the vacancies on the interstate commerce commission, should have been filled with a man from that region.

More than that, they say that for fourteen years at has been an unwritten law that one member of the commission shall be from California, the largest state on the coast. Secretary of the Interior Lane was appointed a commissioner from California. He was succeeded by the late Commissioner Marble, a San Franciscoan. A Californian should have succeeded Marble, declare the congressmen.

William R. Wheeler, traffic manager of the San Francisco chamber of commerce, was a receptive candidate for one of the vacancies. Wheeler was recently in Washington and it was said at the time of his visit here that his prospects of appointment were good, though he was not making an active campaign for the place. It is said that Wheeler would have been appointed if he had not read the great fight here during the Panama canal legislation for free tolls for American coastwise ships, in which he was successful.

President Wilson, adopting a policy of "scuttle" and the surrender to Great Britain, is preparing, it is well known, to back water on free tolls and have, if possible, congress repeal that part of the law, or abjectly submit the dispute to arbitration. Wheeler, declares everybody who knows him here, in ability and experience is far superior to the two nominees selected for the commission. A grave mistake was made in not appointing him; or some other equally well-known man of ability from the Pacific coast, say the California congressmen.

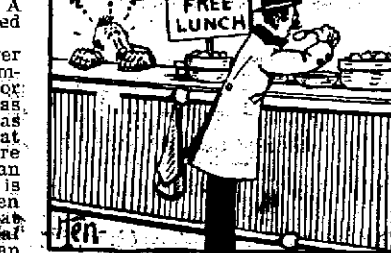

The democratic administration also is being assailed because it has practically ignored the Jewish race in political appointments. Julius I. Peyser, president of one of the Washington banks, in an address before the Col. legiate club here, declared that "with the exception of Strauss, former secretary of commerce and labor in President Roosevelt's administration, the Jews in the United States have been scarcely considered as far as political offices are concerned."

"An article in the American Israelite, of Cincinnati," said Peyser, "states that the reason Henry Morgenthau was not appointed a member of the president's cabinet was because his name was being considered by women whose husbands were to comprise the cabinet, and they protested against a Jewess being a cabinet lady. It has been said that the protest was strong enough to change the purpose of the administration, and Mr. Morgenthau went to the Turkish empire instead."

FINDS ILLITERACY RAPIDLY DECLINING

More Than Three Per Cent of Population Are Illiterate According to Superintendent Cary.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Feb. 5.—The percentage of illiteracy is rapidly decreasing in the state according to statistics compiled by State Superintendent C. P. Cary. According to recent statistics there are 57,769 illiterates in the state, representing 3.2 per cent of the total population 10 years of age or over, as compared with 4.7 per cent in 1900. The percentage of illiteracy is 33.7 among Indians, 8.7 among foreign-born whites, 4.5 among negroes and 0.9 among native whites.

"Compulsory education laws, an insistence on the part of the school authorities that all persons of school age shall attend school, and the widening of the scope of education by night schools and training schools, is doing much to lower the percentage of illiteracy," said Mr. Cary today. "Especially is this ratio disclosed when considering persons who have had an opportunity to attend school in the past ten years. For persons from 10 to 20 years of age, inclusive, whose literacy depends principally upon present school facilities and school attendance, the percentage of illiteracy is only 0.7."

The statistics which have been gathered show that for all classes combined, the percentage of illiteracy in communities, 3.3, is higher than in urban communities, 2.3, and lower than in rural communities, 3.0 per cent. The rural percentage exceeds the urban for each class separately, except the foreign born whites, higher in the school age country than in the city.

Country Versus City.
The total number of persons of school age from 6 to 20 years inclusive, is 732,544. In addition to these, 22,287 children under 6 years, 7,935 persons 21 years and over attended school. The same statistical tables indicate that there is little difference between urban and rural communities as regards the percentage of school attendance for the ages from 6 to 14 years, but for persons from 15 to 20 years the percentages were 37.3 in the urban population and 31.3 in the rural. Mr. Cary is analyzing these figures to determine just what further method can be used to still further lower the percentages of illiteracy.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN URGED AMONG NORTHERN FARMERS BY UNIVERSITY SPEAKER

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Feb. 5.—N. J. Delwiche of Ashland, in charge of the University of Wisconsin's northern branch, advised extension of co-operative selling agencies to develop marketing, addressing the state board of agriculture and the farmers' course last night.

He spoke on the need of co-operative elevators and warehouses in the recently developed sections of Wisconsin. Many communities, such as Bayfield, Washburn and Moquah, through co-operative warehouses and others have secured storage facilities at low rates from private parties. Other growers, he said, who have no market are "left" at the tender mercies of local dealers. Fruit growing sections have had such associations for some time, the number including Sturgeon Bay, Sparta, Bayfield and Washburn. There are numerous co-operative creameries and cheese factories.

TELLS HOW FARMERS BROKE UP A TRUST

Henry Krumrey Talks at Farmers' Course on Co-operative Company in Cheese Business.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Feb. 5.—How an alleged cheese trust in Sheboygan county was disrupted by farmers who organized for self-protection and formed a co-operative warehouse company, was told before the farmers' course and the state board of agriculture here today, by Henry Krumrey of Plymouth, former state senator and the leader in the anti-cheese trust movement.

"Since the methods of the combination have been exposed," he said, "the farmers of Sheboygan county have been thoroughly aroused and there has been constant agitation. On account of this, conditions have been much better, for since then there has been more competition in buying. But an agitation cannot be kept up forever, and if the movement to better conditions can be killed we will soon be back in the old rut."

Meets Opposition.
Senator Krumrey declared that the plan to form a county federation met with violent opposition from those who in the past had taken advantage of the farmers.

"Many of the cheese-makers, who themselves have a dairy and a state organization, bitterly opposed and some even threatening to close their factories if the farmers organized. It is a fact to be regretted that the cheese-makers, as a rule, are with the dealers in this fight against their patrons. In spite of this opposition, the patrons of forty-two factories have organized and joined our federation."

The Federated Farmers' Warehouse company was organized with $20,000 capital, stock, and expects to have its building completed by March 1.

Ashland Man Talks.
Roy Beebe of Ashland, addressed the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association today on "Benefits Derived from the Ashland Plan of Leasing Pure Bred Sires." This plan involves leasing sires to farmers' clubs. It was described as another co-operative effort being tried out in the north, and cause necessity compels some such plan for a beginning. It is intended only for the small pioneer farmer, and probably has no place in other than pioneer sections. In this connection he told the story of the Moquah community, in northern Wisconsin.

Mr. Beebe spoke last night before the state board of agriculture on "Community Marketing." He declared that quality guaranteed farm products, bearing an honest label, are as much a monopoly as Royal baking powder or Pearl's soap.

ROCKFORD MAN NAMED RECEIVER OF BELCOIT CONCERN

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Rockford, Ill., Feb. 5.—Edwin M. St. John, Rockford, was appointed receiver for J. Thompson & Sons, manufacturers of agricultural implements and gas engines at South Beloit. The petition was filed by consent of the company and it was expected a plan of reorganization would be effected. No statement of assets and liabilities was made.

REPUBLICANS ARE SIGNING PAPERS FOR JUDGE KAREL

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Feb. 5.—In republican circles here petitions are being circulated headed with the slogan: "I am a republican, but I want Judge Karel to run for governor in the democratic primaries." It is said that a number of signatures have been secured.

DISOBEYED THE COMMISSION: MUST PAY EXTRA DAMAGES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Feb. 5.—Because of its failure to keep a transmission guarded in a sawmill, the John Schroeder Lumber Company of Ashland must pay 15 per cent additional compensation to the widow of Henry C. Bell, whose death was caused by contact with the unprotected shaft. Failure to observe the requirement is contrary to an order of the industrial commission. The compensation awarded, which is equal to four times $675, Bell's annual average wage, was $2,700. The addition of the penalty makes the total award $2,648.60. The Frankfort General Insurance Company, which insured the mill company, was also made a respondent.

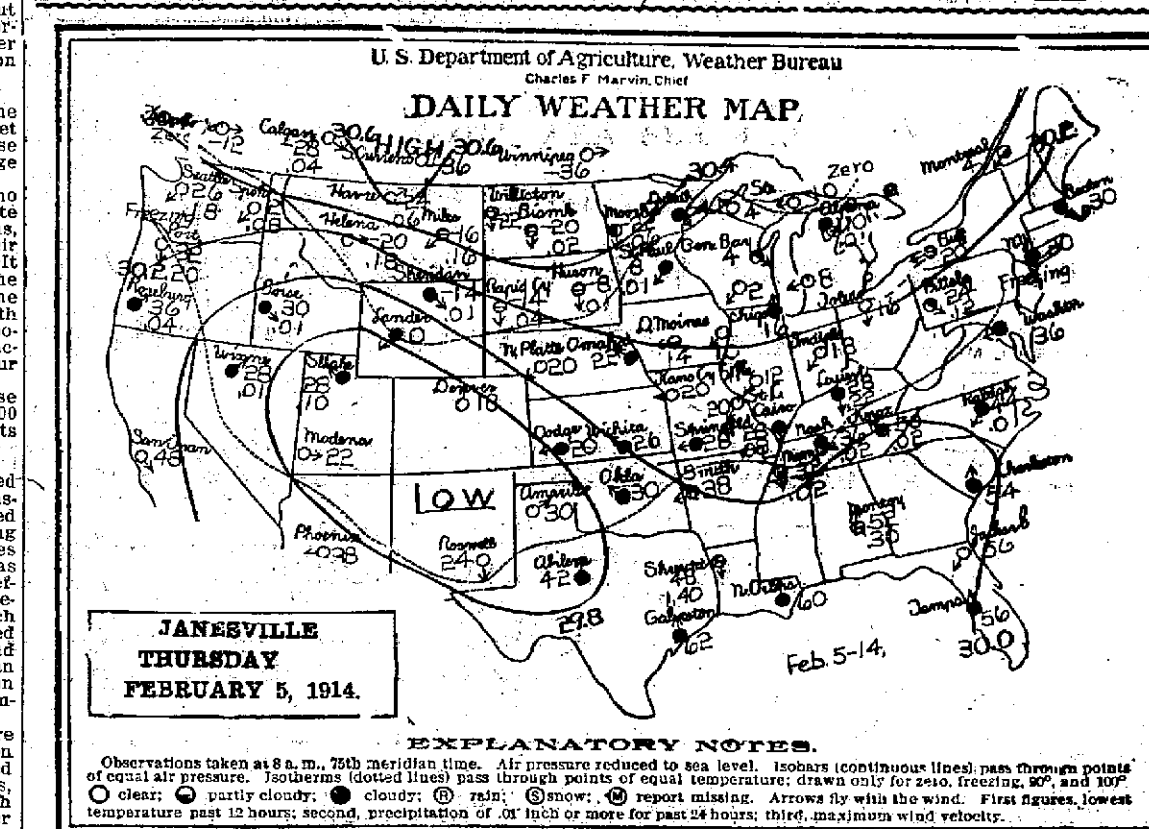

Seldom.
Whiskey gets the blame for most of the crimes that are committed and it seldom succeeds in proving an alibi.

"BLUE SKY" LICENSES ARE RENEWED ACCORDING TO LAW

Madison, Wis., Feb. 5.—To date 155 "blue sky" licenses have been renewed. Although the law became effective last fall the law provided that licenses must be renewed annually on Jan. 31. Of the 170 old licenses issued for all except twelve. The law has already begun to manifest its usefulness. Letters are being received from people of the state making inquiries about stocks that are offered for sale.

Might at Least Do That.
"What 'oo want, chicky?" asked a two-year-old girl in the country for the first time, interpreting the chicken's cackling as an appeal for something. "Oo want a drink?" The cackling continued. "Oo want my grampa?" More cackling. "Aw," said the disgusted little girl, "please shut up!"

There Are Always Some.
The man who thinks the world could not get along without him generally succeeds in finding foolish people who will share his belief.

February 5, 1914.—The barometric depression in the Plateau region is drifting slowly southward, while the area of high barometer in the northwest has not changed its position very much. A very steep gradient in atmospheric pressure prevails across the northern Rockies, and there is a very marked difference in temperature between the two sides of the mountains. Light snow has fallen in most of the northwestern states. There have been general rains in the Gulf states, the fall being moderate except at Shreveport, where 1.48 is reported this morning.

Money Saved by Making Your Cough Syrup at Home

Takes But a Few Moments, and Stops a Hard Cough in a Hurry.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add 1/2 pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. Take a teaspoonful every one or three hours. It keeps perfectly. You will find it one of the best cough syrups you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually conquers an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and the taste is pleasant.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualac and other healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This plan for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully. Guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Broadway Jones

From the Play of George M. Cohan

REVISED EDITION

With Photographs from Scenes in the Play

Copyright, 1913, by G. M. Cohan Company

"Then, Josie, will you come to dinner? I'll have all the boys and girls, including Judge and Mrs. Spotswood."

"I'll be glad to come," said Josie. And she blushed.

That was not strange, but that Broadway felt himself confused and also blushing was a thing which had not happened of late years. Sammy came in at the moment with a telegram for Wallace. Broadway, who was very happy, as he looked at Josie's cheek (half view, from the back) promptly invited him.

"I'll be there," said the mighty child. "And I shall bring—my—banjo."

Broadway did not notice how his sweet young office manager involuntarily shuddered.

It was a pretty evening. The sun was setting in the midst of an extremely gorgeous Turner sky, even if it was on Jonesville that the wondrous color fell in almost painful beauty.

Broadway, tired out, but rather happy when he came to think of it, went along the old, familiar street with a light heart. It might not be so very terrible to live in Jonesville. There were trains that ran to Broadway when the longing became irresistible, and very possibly this might be better as a steady diet. He was surprised to find himself admitting this.

Sammy was hard at it as the convert turned in between the two white gate posts, each eight feet tall and capped by a great wooden ball which he had used as target when the snow had been upon the ground and "paddy" in his boyhood days. Sammy did not even look up as he entered.

"Say, Sammy," he inquired, after a moment of attentive listening to the production, "I don't want to interrupt you, but did you write that yourself?"

"Yes—sir," said the happy Broadway very gravely. "I don't think it's at all bad."

Wallace, who had strolled along behind him, arrived in time to hear this. "No, indeed, it was very good."

"Very good!" exclaimed the modest Sam. "I should say—it was—good!"

Mrs. Spotswood and the judge, having heard the voices, came out of the house, where they had been awaiting the arrival of the young men. The girls followed them.

"Now—Pll—play—you—another—tune—that—I—made—up—myself."

The judge looked at his son with that apologetic tolerance with which he usually regarded him. He was not ashamed of him; but he refused to take him seriously. He would not even punish him. "Keep on practicing, Sammy. You'll get there some day."

Sammy redoubled his slow and mournful efforts, knowing in his heart, undoubtedly, what it was he meant to play, but communicating to no one, either by the spoken word or any sound he made upon the strings.

"If you're doing that for me, Sammy," Broadway suggested kindly, "don't overtax yourself. I'm willing you should stop at any time."

"Well," said the good-natured youth, "I got to—practice—anyhow," and kept on plunking.

Mrs. Spotswood was annoyed. Sammy sometimes got upon her nerves. "Well, go home and practice. Don't strut at that thing here."

He looked up discontentedly as, with the others except Jackson, she went up the porch steps and into the house.

He sat fingering the strings half-heartedly for a few seconds, while Broadway watched him earnestly. Then, from the interior, came the sound of a piano. This stirred the youngster's ire.

"Say—keep—that—piano—quiet—will—you? Gosh—shows—how—much—you—know—about—music! You—can—hear—a—piano—any—day. There—ain't—ten—good—banjo—players—in—Connecticut!"

"You're all right, Sammy," Broadway told him reassuringly. "I don't know how you stand with the rest of the folks; but you're all right with me."

But the piano was annoying Sam. "I ain't—going—to—stay—and—listen—to—that—darned—old—thing. I'm—going—to—take—my—banjo—and—go—home!"

Broadway, with a smile, left him, and went to join his guests within. So did Sammy presently, in answer to the pangs of hunger, and they all had a most extraordinary dinner.

Sam was incensed after awhile. That piano once more began to rattle; no one wished to hear his banjo, the world was out of joint. He would not stay and sanction such mad judgment. He would take his banjo and go home.

"Gosh!" he muttered. "That's—all—the—thanks—I—get—for—going—to—to—all—the—trouble—of—bringin'—my—instrument—along—and—everything. Some—day—they'll—be—darned—glad—to—hear—me—play—when—I—get—it—down—good—and—perfect!"

Sammy was at the gate between the high balled posts when a great, lean and powerful touring car slid gently up before them and came to a standstill.

"Excuse me, young man," said the linen-coated gentleman, who, upon close inspection, proved to be an elderly, clean-cut New York business man accustomed to commanding.

"Well—what—do—you—want?" Sam was very peevish.

"This is the Jones house, isn't it?"

"Yes."

"That's Mr. Wallace playing the piano, isn't it?"

"Yes—he's—showin'—off. He—makes—me—tired."

"Will you kindly tell him there's a gentleman here who'd like to see him."

"Tell—him—yourself. I—ain't—going—in—there. They—made—a—fool—of—me—once—tonight—already!"

His voice rose and his mother heard him through the open window. "Sammy, come here!"

He went reluctantly.

"Haven't you got any better manners than to go without saying good-night, even if you are too ill-tempered to remain all the evening?"

"My—feelin's—are—hurt."

"Just for this you won't get any money to go to the circus this year."

"Well—if—it—ain't—any—better—than—it—was—last—year—I—don't—care—a—darn. I'm—gettin'—tired—of—bein'—bossed—around. I—bet—Edison—the—inventor—didn't—let—people—boss—him—around—when—he—was—a—boy! I'm—going—to—take—my—banjo—and—live—in—New—Haven!"

"Sammy!"

The judge had heard and now joined his wife at the window. "What's the matter, mom?"

"Oh, you've spoiled that boy! What he needs is a good spanking."

The judge was not impressed. Sammy often got on his mother's nerves. He rarely did on his. He smiled. Smiling, he saw the waiting gentleman in motor car and goggles.

"Who's the stranger?"

"I don't know."

But with the country woman's good-natured curiosity she left her place by the open window and went out to the porch.

"I beg pardon," said the traveler, "I should like to speak to Mr. Wallace, if you don't mind telling him."

"Won't you come in?"

"Thank you; I'll wait here."

"Shall I give any name, sir?"

"Just say to him that his father is here."

The judge and his good wife were taken much aback. So this was the great Wallace, the richest and most powerful advertising man in New York city, perhaps in the United States!

"Oh, certainly, sir," said Mrs. Spotswood and vanished within doors while the judge advanced genially.

"Have I the honor of addressing Mr. Grover Wallace?"

down the steps. "Well, you have handed me a surprise!"

His father answered coldly. "You've handed me a surprise, also."

"Why, what's the matter?" Bob knew perfectly; but it is always best to let your adversary state his grievance before you try to answer him. He may forget a point or two in his excitement.

"That's what I've come here to find out. I want to find out what the devil is the matter with you."

Broadway had heard the voices. Mrs. Spotswood had conveyed the news to him, and now he himself hurried down the steps.

"Have your father come right inside, Bob," he urged, "and make himself at home."

He went on to the elder Wallace, holding out his hand, and then, when it was not seized eagerly, gripping earnestly for Wallace's.

"By gracious, I'm awfully glad to see you!" Bob has spoken of you so often and told me so much about you that I feel as if I know you almost as well as he does."

The elder Wallace showed no answering enthusiasm. He only tried to get his hand away from Broadway's cordial grasp.

"Did you know he was coming?" Broadway demanded of the visitor's son.

"No."

"Oh, a little surprise, eh? Well, just in time for dinner! Come along inside and meet the folks. Having a bully time, aren't we, Bob?"

"Yes; fine. This is Jackson Jones, governor. You've heard me speak of him."

"Yes; I've heard of him," his father answered dryly.

"Isn't it strange we never met before?" said Broadway effusively. "Bob and I being such good friends. But we're going to get better acquainted, aren't we. Come inside."

"No, thank you. I'd like to speak to my son alone, if you have no objections."

"Oh, why, of course."

As Wallace turned away Broadway had a chance to whisper in Bob's ear: "Anything wrong?"

"It will be all right. Don't worry."

"Well," said Broadway cordially, as the father and son began to move in silence toward the gate, "I'll expect you in as soon as you're through with your little talk. We'll wait dinner for you."

"I beg pardon," said the traveler, "I should like to speak to Mr. Wallace, if you don't mind telling him."

"Won't you come in?"

"Thank you; I'll wait here."

"Shall I give any name, sir?"

"Just say to him that his father is here."

"No."

"Oh, a little surprise, eh? Well, just in time for dinner! Come along inside and meet the folks. Having a bully time, aren't we, Bob?"

"You needn't bother, sir," said Grover Wallace firmly.

"Oh it's no bother at all. I'm only too glad to get the chance to entertain. You know this is my first day in a regular home and I'm having the time of my life." He warned Bob playfully: "Don't you let him get away, Bob. I'll fix up something cute. I know what he wants."

The elder Wallace looked at him for scant two seconds with a glance which indicated that he thought him far too unimportant to receive more copious attention. Then he turned severely to his son.

"Now, sir, perhaps you'd like to explain the meaning of all this damned nonsense."

"What nonsense?" Bob knew very well that to which his father made his very earnest reference, but he was sparing to get time to think.

"What are you doing here?"

"Didn't I phone you yesterday? I am here on business." The young man's voice was full of injured innocence.

"Business! Humph! Fine business! Do you realize the sort of contract you've sent in from this concern? Who ever gave you the authority to sign such an agreement for the Empire company?"

"You told me over the phone that I could use my own judgment in the matter and then wired me."

"Well, I didn't suppose I was dealing with a crazy man! Do you know you've guaranteed to cover every eastern and middle western state at a price that wouldn't pay for Pennsylvania alone? What the devil do you mean by making a statement to the Consolidated Gum people that the Empire is behind the Jones company?"

Bob was quite legitimately reaping a fine whirlwind harvest. He knew that. He had sown the wind. But he believed that he might make this wind whirl mills, drive sails, do stunts. Still, explanation was a difficult matter.

"Well, I was bluffing then, that's all."

"And to what purpose, sir? You have bluffed us out of half a million dollars' worth of future contracts that were pending, and you have signed an agreement with this Jones, that, were it given to the public, would make us the laughing-stock of the advertising world."

Dinner Stories

Two sailors were in a cafe. One sailor had a letter before him and was reading aloud, while at the same time the other sailor held his hands over the reader's ears. The friendly waiter, impelled by curiosity, paused before the table.

"Why," he asked, "do you hold your hands over your friend's ears?"

"I beg pardon," said the traveler, "I should like to speak to Mr. Wallace, if you don't mind telling him."

"Won't you come in?"

"Thank you; I'll wait here."

"Shall I give any name, sir?"
